PRODUCT OVERVIEW

End-to-End SEO Content Agent

An agent that takes a topic brief all the way to a published, on-brand article — research, draft, metadata and links included.

Claude

OpenRouter

n8n

4×

content output with no added headcount

One

consistent on-brand voice across every piece

Zero

manual CMS steps on the standard path

Publish

ready pieces, not just drafts

THE PROBLEM

Content stalls between brief, draft and CMS

SEO content stalls between briefing, drafting and the manual work of formatting, linking and publishing — slowing output and adding ops burden to every piece.

Topic Briefs

Briefs sitting in docs, not moving to publish

Draft Queue

Drafts waiting for metadata and link work

CMS

Manual CMS entry for every formatted piece

SEO Backlog

Output bottlenecked by ops, not ideas

Days from brief to published article on the manual path

No brand

voice enforcement

Manual

CMS formatting

Internal

links added by hand

"We have 40 briefs and publish 6 a month. The bottleneck isn't ideas or writing — it's everything after the first draft."

— Composite content team feedback

HOW IT WORKS

Four steps, from topic brief to published article

01

Brief

A topic brief is submitted — target keyword, audience, angle and tone. Everything downstream derives from it.

Tone guide

02

Research

Claude via OpenRouter researches the topic and drafts a full on-brand article, structured for SEO and written in the brand voice.

KEY FEATURES

Four capabilities that earn their place

No manual steps after the brief. Every feature closes the gap between idea and published article.

1

Brief-to-Draft Generation

Claude takes a topic brief and produces a full, structured article — research, outline and on-brand prose in one run via OpenRouter.

RESULTS &amp; IMPACT

Three numbers that justify the build

4×

content output with no added headcount

Consistent

on-brand voice across every article

Publish

ready pieces, not just drafts

What this unlocks

- Content team focuses on briefs and strategy, not production ops
- Every piece arrives at the CMS formatted, tagged and linked
- Internal linking and metadata done automatically on every article
- Output volume scales without adding writers or ops headcount
- Brand voice improves as the voice guide and examples are refined over time

"We went from 6 articles a month to 24 without hiring anyone. The briefs go in and the articles come out — formatted, linked and CMS-ready."

— Composite content team feedback

Your turning point in the AI era.

Brief in. Published article out. No manual steps in between.

The SEO Content Agent takes any topic brief all the way to a published, on-brand article — research, draft, metadata, internal links and CMS delivery included.
